Description: The most popular software created by the company, which so far has 842 million copies sold worldwide, is a powerful, free, easy and safe encryption solution. RarestCryptX is the incredible software which provides its users with an error free, easy and safe way to apply very high encryption to their data. RarestCryptX combines the features of various free file encryption tools, giving you all the benefits of getting all these separate programs for free. With RarestCryptX you will use a simple and easy to use GUI application that allows you to encrypt, decrypt and even to create your own hidden files and folders. The encryption system it uses is strong enough for most of the needs; it can be used, for example, to encrypt web passwords and pictures sent by e-mail. Unlike most of the proprietary products, RarestCryptX is free for download; you can use it to send encrypted files over the internet to any other computer without any of the risks of getting or losing your data. RarestCryptX is also a file encryption utility designed to make life easier. You can encrypt all your files or just the ones that you want. You also can protect all the files on your computer or just the ones you want, and use any random or consecutive numbers or letters to encrypt your files. Of course, when you choose to encrypt just certain files, then your choice files will be encrypted for as long as you want, and you will be able to change the encrypted files (including their decryption keys) whenever you want. You can change your encryption keys on a regular basis to make sure that the strength of your encryption will not be compromised by an intruder, who could have access to one of your earlier encryption keys. The RarestCryptX implementation uses OpenSSL for the encryption, and PuT
